I . How to apply

1. Necessary documents

- a) First residence applicants; Form 1-1, Form A, and a copy of Student ID card or an Acceptance Letter from your faculty for the new students
- b) Former residence applicants; Form 1-1, Form A, Form B, and a copy of Student ID card or an Acceptance Letter from your faculty for new students

*1 In case the applicants wish to live in I-House with their family, they must submit an official document which proves that they are the member of the family.

*2 Please fill in your relevant information as of April, 2017.

*3 The applicants must write their full name as it appears on their passport, along with the writing of Katakana. In addition, for those who have their name in Chinese characters, must indicate them as well.

2. Screening Regulations

- a) Priority is given to the applicants who come to Japan directly from overseas.
- b) The applicants, who have already lived in Japan, are given priority if they are in the final academic year of their programs. Financial situations of the applicants may be considered.
- c) Although the applicants may have already lived in I-House for a total of one year, they can apply again when the academic status changes. However, priority will be lower than a) and b). Please also submit "Re-Application for Residence".
- d) Students who are repeating a year or temporarily absent from school are not allowed to apply.

II . Room change

1. Necessary documentForm C

2. A resident, who has been eligible to stay until September 2017, can submit an application for a room change. Changing to a room of the same type, however, is not allowed.

III . Result of application

Result will be announced by the end of February, 2017 from Office of International Affairs.

IV . Notice

1. Since the number of rooms is limited, not all the students can get a room. Applicants cannot request to choose buildings or types of rooms.
2. Even though the room type is the same, the width and the layout are different in each building. Once the room is assigned, you cannot request any changes.
3. Rent and other charges are subject to change.
4. In case the applicants leave Saitama University, their permission of residence will be cancelled.
5. The extension of residence will not be permitted, due to the cleaning and renovation of the rooms for next residents.
